STORYCORPS is a national nonprofit organization whose mission is to preserve and share humanity’s stories in order to build connections between people and create a more just and compassionate world.

Since 2003, over 150,000 people (nearly 70,000 interviews) have shared life stories with family and friends through StoryCorps. Participants receive a copy of their new recording to share with friends and family and, with permission, StoryCorps sends a second copy to the Library of Congress. StoryCorps is one of the largest oral history projects of its kind, and millions listen to our weekly broadcasts at STORYCORPS.ORG and on NPR’s Morning Edition.

STORYCORPS LEGACY

StoryCorps Legacy provides the StoryCorps interview experience to people with serious illness and their families. Recording conversations is the perfect way to celebrate and share our lives with future generations. StoryCorps has given many participants the opportunity to form powerful new connections and engage in meaningful conversations.

StoryCorps Legacy partners with hospice and palliative care departments, hospitals, and health care providers. We train our partners to conduct and record interviews using StoryCorps equipment and methods.

WHAT PEOPLE ARE SAYING:

“Clinicians know that telling a story can be powerfully therapeutic. Stories often give rise to a celebration of lives and relationships, the things that really matter most. StoryCorps Legacy is a gift to our national culture.”

Dr. Ira Byock, StoryCorps Legacy Advisor and bestselling author of The Best Care Possible

“The legacy that StoryCorps offers is that it allows the most common or incredible stories to be told and to have permanence.”

Nancy Hinds, RN, Founder and CEO Hinds Hospice, Fresno, CA

“Making the recording was such a joy and now to have the CD and pictures as a reminder is so very meaningful. Many thanks for the amazing work you all do and the priceless gifts you offer.”
